£50k council survey 'brain washing' its participants

By Samantha McGregor

A COUNCIL has been accused of trying to "brain-wash" people into supporting plans for a unitary authority in Oxfordshire.

It comes after Oxfordshire County Council (OCC) confirmed it had hired Welsh social research company Opinion Research Services to the tune of £50,000 to canvass residents.

OCC proposes a single unitary authority to replace the six city and district councils.

The research firm is calling people, knocking on doors and inviting others to attend focus groups to answer a string of questions about a new local government structure.

The county council has been criticised for spending tens of thousands of pounds at the same time it has made millions of pounds in cuts to local services and has increased its share of the council tax for 2017/18.

But the county council said the survey is necessary "to reach out to and listen to the views of people who will be directly affected, not just campaigners".

One resident, who was called by the firm but did not want to be named, accused the county council of trying to "brain-wash" people and claimed the questions are biased.

The resident said: "They ask questions to get the answers they want. I think this is very wrong to try and brain-wash people. Oxfordshire residents' own council tax is being used against the democratic process to undermine district councils."

Cherwell District Council leader Barry Wood, who is opposed to the merger, claims the plans are "not fit for purpose" and the move is a "last-ditch" and "money grabbing attempt by the county council to try and plug its debt".

A spokeswoman from Oxfordshire County Council said: "This is not a formal consultation on a set of fixed proposals.

"It is a wide ranging public and stakeholder engagement exercise to gain feedback as part of the evidence base we will use in refining the draft proposals, and forming a final version of them.

"Our public and stakeholder engagement activities are designed to get a view of the population of the county and we are using a variety of different approaches

Day celebrates contributions and importance of migrants

By Eva Astreinidou

OXFORD took part in countrywide celebrations to mark '1 Day Without Us' to honour the contribution of migrants to British society whilst also taking another shot at US President Donald Trump and his "toxic politics".

The public were invited to link arms and carry flags to celebrate diversity and the migrant population on Monday, after a report from the New Economics Foundation estimated that if every migrant withdrew their labour for one day, it would cost the UK £328m.

The Lord Mayor of Oxford, Councillor Mohammed Altaf-Khan, was at Oxford Town Hall to offer messages of solidarity and support for immigrants in both Oxford and the UK.

Attendees had the option of coming in national costume and bringing flags.

Oxford-based photographer Fran Monks was also there to celebrate with a pop-up photo booth, gathering a diverse collection of faces of immigrants to represent the city.

Cllr Altaf-Khan said: "Oxford is a city of sanctuary and has long been a destination for international immigrants with over 28 per cent of the city's population born outside the UK."

"I am proud to celebrate this day and to express Oxford City Council's ongoing commitment to recognising the value of immigrants in the city."

The University of Oxford's Nuffield orthopaedic centre also took part with an event to celebrate migrant staff and their supporters, hosting a coffee morning, and a paper mural accompanied by photos and handwritten notes on migration and its value.

Oxford students also organised a mass walkout in Oxford city centre on Monday in support of migrants and to protest against the 'toxic politics of Donald Trump'.

Campaigners Oxford Migrant Solidarity, alongside Oxford University Student Union, masterminded the walkout that saw students leave classes to gather in Radcliffe Square at 11.30am.

A statement on the walkout event's Facebook page read: "We are calling on Oxford students to join in making it very clear to our government, and to the world, that this state visit will not happen in our name."

"We are calling on Oxford

Representatives take turns to read out messages of solidarity in English and Chinese (Picture from Oxford City Council) to be part of standing up to our own governments continued victimisation of migrants from the building of the wall in Calais to the deportation of thousands of international students."

At 1pm, people countrywide supporting 1 Day Without Us were asked to gather in public spaces and link arms in a gesture of solidarity and appreciation of migrants.

The group posted on their page: "We are millions. Let us stand together and show it. Let's reject the politics of division and hatred."

"Let's make tomorrow better than today."

Tributes paid to 'kind and loving' Domingos

THE family of a man stabbed to death in an incident in Headington a week ago have paid tribute to a "loving and caring man".

The statement was released last Thursday by Thames Valley Police on behalf of 35-year-old Domingos Ramalho's family after the fatal stabbing.

The tribute read: "Domingos was a kind, loving and caring man. He was a good and trusted friend to many and a family man dedicated to his partner and children."

"His sudden loss affects us all greatly and he will always be in our hearts and prayers and will never be forgotten."

The family has asked that their privacy is respected and that they are allowed to be left to grieve in private.

Egidio Da Silva Alves, 27, of The Slade, Oxford, appeared at Oxford Crown Court on Wednesday last week charged with the murder of Mr Ramalho but will not enter a plea until his next court hearing in April.

Alves was arrested on Monday, February 13 and charged two days later with murder and possession of a bladed article.

Thames Valley Police officers and ambulances were called to the incident in Windmill Road just after 3pm on Monday last week, where the victim had sustained stab wounds.

Mr Ramalho was taken to John Radcliffe Hospital where he later died.

The day after the stabbing took place, senior investigating officer Det Insp Dave Hubbard, from Thames Valley Police's Major Crime unit, said: "We believe this to have been an isolated incident, and we are now conducting a thorough investigation."

Banbury's snow warden scheme gets major boost

By Samantha McGregor

BUSINESSES and residents have got behind a scheme to make their town's streets safer for everyone.

Banbury Town Council launched an initiative last month to recruit more volunteers to act as snow wardens in the event of bad weather.

Businesses and organisations are needed to grit pavements and shopping streets to make them safe for shoppers and residents.

Last week Bett's Butchers, in Church Street, signed up to the scheme, now Cherwell District Council has joined the list of organisations offering support.

Cherwell's 4x4 vehicle can be fitted with a small gritting attachment and will be brought into use whenever weather forecasters predict snow or ice.

Its staff will treat the town centre before people are up and about in the mornings.

Cherwell council will take responsibility for Market Place, Parson's Street, High Street, Broad Street (to George Street), Butchers Row and Bridge Street.

The town council's snow warden scheme, which has been running since 2013, already has nearly 100 volunteers who grit the roads and streets where they live.

The scheme began when Oxfordshire County Council reduced its gritting programme. The county council grit main roads in the event of bad weather.

Cherwell's leader Barry Wood said: "Once again Cherwell District Council will go where Oxfordshire County Council fear to tread."

"Cherwell will work in partnership with Banbury Town Council to provide a service that the county will not."

"We realise how slippery pavements and roads can become and we can adapt one of our four wheel drive vehicles to make things better."

Cllr Mallon, leader of the town council who brokered the deal with Cllr Wood, said: "This is a fantastic boost to the snow warden scheme and the two councils can work together to make the town centre areas safe.

"Unlike other suggestions that would have put a cost on to Banbury residents, this will not cost the taxpayer a penny more."

"There are still places not covered by the scheme and I appeal to more businesses to join us."

"It would also be good if residents in the town centre – in Albert Street, Marlborough Road, Newlands, Britannia Road areas etc – joined in."

"We provide everything they need and we also organise brief training sessions on how to spread the grit thinly and effectively."

"I've said before that snow wardens are important and respected members of the community – and we need more of them."

Tech open day

BICESTER: Bicester Technology Studio (BTS) is hosting an open day to give future students an insight into study at the town's newest school.

The school opened in September 2016 to Year 10 and Year 12 students, specialising in business and engineering.

Potential students will get a tour of the building, meet current students, staff and industry partners.

The open day takes place on February 28, from 5.30pm.

Council criticised over £50k One Oxfordshire survey

• From front page to do so.

"This includes informal drop-in events in libraries, surveys, workshops, stakeholder meetings etc."

"We have hired an expert social research company to carry out some of the public engagement work and provide an independent report on findings.

"While there are costs attached to some of our public engagement activities, they need to be put in the context of the £400,000 per week being currently wasted on running six councils."

A war of words has already broken out between the county's six councils.

OCC propose a single unitary authority to replace the six city and district councils. The county council has got the backing of South and Vale district councils, while Cherwell, Oxford City and West Oxfordshire councils oppose the move.

Among the questions people are asked to agree or disagree about is the need to reorganise local government in Oxfordshire, if a unitary authority should provide all council services.

Residents are also asked how important four options were to them, which included simpler local government, better services, more accountability and lower running costs.

A formal consultation is expected to take place if the Government back the unitary authority plan.

Power station workers' families still seeking answers a year on

By George Welch

TWELVE months on from the disaster which cost the lives of four men when one of a town's most iconic landmarks collapsed, the community has vowed to never forget.

Today marks exactly a year since the boiler house at Didcot 'A' Power Station partially collapsed, killing four workers and shattering the lives of their families.

The body of 53-year-old Mick Collings, from North Yorkshire, was found on the same day as the collapse.

But the bodies of Ken Cresswell, 57, and John Shaw, 61, both from Rotherham, and Christopher Huxtable, 34, from Swansea, remained in the rubble.

It took 201 days from the day of the collapse to find and recover the bodies of all three men.

And now, a year on, we are no closer to knowing what really happened as Thames Valley Police and Health and Safety Executive investigations continue.

The Didcot community is to come together today to remember the men who lost their lives.

Didcot Mayor Steve Connel said: "Although the tragedy at Didcot Power Station was 12 months ago it is still something which always pulls on the heart-strings of Didcot whenever we look at the new gap in our skyline.

"I know words can often mean little in times of pain, but if the families of the four gentlemen happen to read this I would just like to take this moment to say that your loved ones will not be forgotten by Didcot."

Cllr Connel said that, because the power station was in the Sutton Courtenay parish, Didcot Town Council doesn't have the power to insist anything is put on the site as a tribute.

He said this "didn't sit right" with him and has planned a series of tributes in the Didcot parish instead.

To commemorate the partial collapse on February 23, 2016, Didcot will hold a minute's silence at 4pm and will fly the town flag at half-mast all day today.

Discussions are also ongoing about naming four streets on the Didcot North East development after the victims.

Didcot MP Ed Vaizey contacted site owners RWE Npower

in July, calling on them to fund a memorial for the lost men.

He told the Oxfordshire Guardian this week: "I would still like to see some sort of tribute but feel that this has to be sensitive to the feelings of the families involved.

"In time, some input from them about what they would like would be appropriate."

Police said that more than 1,300 statements have been taken, and over 2,600 physical and documentary exhibits and 60,000 still images and video footage have been collected.

Senior investigating officer Det Ch Insp Craig Kirby, said: "Given the scale and unprecedented nature of this incident, the highly complex investigation being conducted, is progressing at pace.

"The evidence is being examined by both Thames Valley Police (TVP) and the Health and Safety Executive (HSE), with assistance from forensic archaeologists, metallurgists and structural engineers.

"In the coming months TVP and HSE will have completed their work at the Didcot site, and the investigation will continue off-site.

"We continue to support those affected by this incident and they are being given regular updates on the progress of the investigation."

"TVP and HSE are entirely committed to uncovering why this tragedy happened and will seek justice for those affected, should any wrongdoing be found to have taken place."

Npower is to hold a private minute's silence and will lay flowers at the former power station at 2pm today as an act of respect for the four men.

In a statement, Npower said: "Our thoughts are with the families of Mick Collings, John Shaw, Ken Cresswell and Chris Huxtable at this very difficult time.

"The tragedy has had a huge effect on everyone involved at the site and the teams will come together quietly to remember the men who lost their lives and all the emergency teams who worked tirelessly following the tragic incident."

The first body to be recovered after six months of searching was that of Mr Huxtable, who was recovered on August 31, before Mr Cresswell was found on September 7 and Mr Shaw - the last to be recovered - on September 11.

An inquest into their deaths was opened in September, but a full inquest cannot be carried out until the investigation has concluded.

How far can you get for no money within 36 hours?

By Eva Astreinidou

OXFORD'S Raise and Give (RAG) charity Jailbreak is back this year, with students embarking on a trip of a lifetime armed with no money, tickets, or passes, and just 36 hours to get as far away from Oxford as possible.

Two of the students taking on this year's Jailbreak are Eleanor Holt and Chevonne van Rhee, both third year Oxford University students.

With the countdown being on just two days, the 'Jailbreak' challenge is set to begin at 6am this Saturday, with a goal to get as far away from Oxford as possible by 6pm on Sunday.

The aim is to reach Oxford, New Zealand, 11,771 miles away, whilst spending no money on travel.

The duo are also hoping to raise £100,000 in sponsorship, with all of the proceedings going straight to charity and half of the cash going to charities based in Oxford.

The charities to receive the donations are Oxford Homeless Pathways, Oxford Sexual Abuse and Rape Crisis, Student Minds, and the Schistosomiasis Control Initiative.

They said: "We are inspired by the work of these charities, and think they are hugely deserving

• Eleanor Holt and Chevonne van Rhee are aiming to get to New Zealand of your support.

"Obviously these are quite big targets, so at the moment we are trying to raise as much awareness as possible and to reach out to the maximum number of potential sponsors.

"We think it's a fantastic (and a pretty unusual) opportunity to raise money and much-needed awareness for four really deserving charities, so at the moment we're mostly excited, if a little apprehensive about the size of the challenge we've set ourselves! But we think getting even close to those goals would be really worthwhile."

The pair will be updating their Facebook and Twitter pages for people to follow their progress along the journey.

Jailbreak is RAG's biggest event of the year, with past students reaching all over the UK, Europe, and beyond, from Poland to Budapest to Istanbul, to Tokyo and South Africa.

Last year the charity raised more than £30,000.

Oxford RAG is Oxford University Student Union's fundraising team.

Year on year they've hosted sporting tournaments, hitch-hikes, talent shows, bungee jumping, street collections in fancy dress and the RAG Ball.

Tablets help hospitals save time

A PROJECT to replace bedside paper charts with tablet computers in Oxfordshire's NHS hospitals has reduced staff time by up to 30 per cent, a study has found.

The System for Electronic Notification and Documentation (SEND) tablet was developed by Oxford University to improve the efficiency of recording the vital signs of patients.

The study, reported in the Journal of the American Medical Informatics Association, concluded that the time saved was statistically significant and that systems like SEND can be faster than paper charts.

A report on three wards at the Churchill and Horton hospitals found the typical time to record the vital signs on a paper chart – traditionally hung at the end of beds – was three minutes and 35 seconds.

However, the typical time to record the data into SEND was two minutes and 30 seconds.

The study is the biggest report yet on the impact of the system, introduced from 2014 and now fully rolled out at Oxford University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust hospitals.

Paper co-author David Wong said: "This paper's finding supports the message that we have been hearing from front-line staff, that SEND facilitates fast and accurate recording of patient vital signs.

"SEND frees up more time for clinical care, which we believe will ultimately lead to better outcomes for patients."

The SEND system works through staff inputting a patient's vital signs, such as heart rate and blood pressure.

The tablet – which links to patients' barcoded wristbands to identify them – immediately provides advice on how to manage the patient's care and displays any deterioration in their condition.

Information about patients can also be shared around the trust.

Data was collected from two, five-week periods, one for the paper system and one with SEND, comprising a total of 606 observation sets.

• The use of tablets to record patient information helps save time

£40m to tackle child sexual exploitation

By Eva Astreinidou

THE Home Secretary has announced a £40million package to protect children and young people from sexual abuse, exploitation and trafficking and to crack down on offenders.

Amber Rudd revealed the new funding and the launch of a new National Centre of Expertise on child sexual abuse on Thursday last week.

The package will also include an extra £20m for the National Crime Agency to tackle online sexual exploitation, £2.2m for organisations working to protect children at risk of trafficking, and the launch of Independent Child Trafficking Advocates (ICTAs).

The centre will comprise of health, law enforcement and social care professionals, and will become the definitive source of information and guidance to those tackling child sexual abuse on the front line.

• Home Secretary Amber Rudd

The new centre will receive £7.5m until 2020.

Ms Rudd announced the measures after visiting Barnardo's Safer Futures in Salford, Greater Manchester, a counselling centre for victims of child sexual exploitation and abuse.

Writing for Mumsnet, the Home Secretary said: "Children should be able to grow up free from the horrors of sexual abuse, exploitation and trafficking. Something that should go without saying.

"This government has done more than any other to tackle these horrific offences.

"We have increased support for victims, invested in training and technology to improve law enforcement's response to abuse, and brought in a tougher inspection regime.

"I am determined to bring those that would try to steal their childhood to justice."

The Home Office's child trafficking protection fund also awarded nearly £2.2m to seven charities for projects protecting vulnerable children in the UK and overseas who are at risk of trafficking.

In 2013, Nicola Blackwood, MP for Oxford West and Abingdon, launched the Childhood Lost campaign to prevent vulnerable children being targeted, groomed and sexually exploited.

The campaign was a response to Operation Bullfinch in 2011, where seven men - Anjum Dogar, Akhtar Dogar, Assad Hussain, Mohammed Karrar, Bassam Karrar, Kamar Jamil and Zeeshan Ahmed - were sentenced for a total of 95 years in an Oxford child sex exploitation case.

On Tuesday, the MP said: "I welcome the new National Centre of Expertise ensuring we have the tools to target offenders. We have seen the devastation child sexual exploitation can cause here in Oxford and every effort must be made to put a stop to it."

A report published by the Oxfordshire Safeguarding Children Board (OSCB) in 2015 revealed that a total of 373 children were thought to have been sexually exploited in Oxfordshire over the previous 16 years.

Supermarket donates goods to food bank for those in need

A HEADINGTON supermarket has given a boost to Oxford Food Bank's efforts to help people in need.

The Sainsbury's Local store in London Road has become one of the latest to sign up to donate good quality food that would otherwise have gone to waste to the good cause.

Established in 2009, the food bank collects food - fruit, vegetables and dairy and bakery produce - from supermarkets and wholesalers and delivers it to 80 charities in and around the city, with the twin aims of reducing food waste and relieving food poverty.

Mark Fenton, manager of the Headington store, said: "We believe Oxford Food Bank does a fantastic job supporting those in need and wanted to help as much as we can.

"We hope our gesture encourages others to do the same."

Food bank manager Cathy Howard said: "The Oxford Food Bank is pleased to be working to reduce even more food waste in partnership with another Sainsbury's store.

"Our wonderful volunteers now collect surplus food that would have otherwise gone to waste from nearly twenty supermarkets and wholesalers."

The food bank was started by David Cairns and Robin Aitken and initially saw them delivering surplus food from one supermarket to five charities from the back of their cars.

Now based on an industrial estate at Botley, the registered charity has 100 volunteers working seven days a week to collect and distribute food to the charities which support homeless people, families and others in need."

There's a whole latte love on offer at coffee wagon

By George Welch

A SINGLES-ONLY coffee shop using cutting-edge coffee printing technology has given an Oxford man a unique shot at finding love.

A far cry from conventional methods of meeting love interests, a temporary pop-up coffee shop was set up last month to help singletons find their true love – by having their face printed onto a coffee.

Dating service Match encouraged singles to swing by 'Espresso Yourself' in Shoreditch, east London, which served so-called 'Chappuccinos', 'Femmericanos' and 'Selffees', printed with the profile pictures of its members.

Match recruited singles from across the country to take part, including 26-year-old David Morrison from Oxford.

He said: "As soon as I heard about the idea from Match I was really keen to get involved. It was a really refreshing experience taking part in something different.

"Going for a coffee is always my ideal first date and so searching for a date through coffee seemed perfect to me.

"It was great fun having my face immortalised on froth."

Espresso Yourself opened for two days last month and, following on from the success of the London pop-up shop, Match is considering rolling it out to other areas of the UK.

The service was designed to encourage time-poor, coffee-loving Londoners to find themselves a date while getting their daily caffeine fix.

Six different Match members, including David, decided they wanted to kick off their search for a date in style by featuring on the coffee shop menu for fellow singles to choose from.

Punters were asked to choose from one of the singles on the menu and, after picking their preferred tippie, were handed a free coffee with the profile picture of their chosen single printed into the coffee's foam.

They could then get to know more about their potential admirer (their age, height, occupation, interests etc) by reading the outside of their specially-designed coffee cup.

If they liked what they see – and drink – they could follow a link printed on the cup to track down their match.

The unique beverages were created with the help of Ripples, who developed the coffee printing technology.

The Ripples machine uses a cartridge filled with coffee extract with a combination of 3D and inkjet technology to top off a beverage.

Woman stuck chest deep in muddy water

A WOMAN had to be winched to safety after getting stuck in mud in Stevenston.

Firefighters were called to the woman at 4.30pm on Wednesday last week after a passer-by noticed her in trouble, chest deep in mud.

The 48-year-old had been out walking her dog when she slipped into a stream that flows around the village green.

She had been in the mud for over an hour before the passer-by noticed her, and firefighters used a sling to get her out. The fire service said she was uninjured but very cold.

Station manager Paul Webster said: "This was an unfortunate accident where the lady dog walker had slipped on the muddy embankment and fallen into the swollen stream, due to the recent rain fall, the ground was soft and she was not able to get out of the water.

"Luckily a fellow dog walker came across the lady and called the emergency services who were able to lift her out of the water using a rescue sling.

"The lady was checked out by our colleagues from the ambulance service, she appeared to have no injuries but was very cold."

Make a splash and help Diabetes UK

By George Welch

OXFORDSHIRE residents are being urged to pull on their goggles and swimming caps to swim the width of the channel to raise money for charity.

Diabetes UK is looking for swimmers to join their Swim22 Challenge and raise money for research and support for people with the condition.

The idea is to swim 22 miles – the width of the Channel – but people can do it in their local pool and at their own pace.

The challenge, which started yesterday, can be completed anytime before May 22.

Robbie Brown, from Faringdon, will be taking to the water as part of Swim 22 because he has Type 2 diabetes.

The 49-year-old said: "Swimming has been a godsend in helping me manage my diabetes."

"I wanted to help Diabetes UK fund their valuable research and that's how I got into swimming."

"Now it's a habit and the health benefits have been incredible."

"It's transformed my life to the point my wife now jokes I'm half-man, half-dolphin."

"My younger brother, who is also diabetic, was so impressed he's now in training to do Swim22 with me next year. It works wonders and I really hope more people join us."

Swimmers can take part either individually or as part of a team.

Diabetes UK will send all participants a welcome pack to get started and the charity will provide support along the way.

Seven-times Paralympic

gold medal-winning swimmer Sascha Kindred said: "One of the great things about Swim22 is that you don't need to be a champion swimmer to take part."

"It's a fantastic way to keep fit, have some family fun, get to know your workmates better or set yourself an individual challenge."

"Swimming 22 miles in three months will give you a great sense of personal achievement, and will boost Diabetes UK's vital research, campaigning, education and support."

With your help you can go to the ball

Support the Oxfordshire Guardian's charity of the year – Play2Give

A DIDCOT-BASED charity now in its 10th year is hoping to raise £10,000 in funds to aid local charities but needs help in funding a one of a kind charitable event.

Award-winning Play2Give (P2G), our charity of the year, plans to raise the funds through a series of events including a special celebration ball, which will help with fundraising for the Oxford Children's Hospital and Headway Oxfordshire.

The group will host its black tie anniversary ball to raise cash for both charities and to celebrate the organisation's milestone year, on September 29.

The ball, hosted at Didcot Civic Centre, will feature a disco, photo booth raffle and three-course meal as part of the evening's entertainment.

To help with the fundraising the organisation is in need of a local company's help to fund the cost of the event to the tune of £2,000.

P2G's £10k appeal will help the children's hospital raise £2million towards new parental accommodation as well as new play areas and specialist equipment.

It will also aid Headway Oxfordshire's final push to raise its last £10k to create the county's first neurological physiotherapy gym in the voluntary sector for the rehabilitation of brain injured patients.

Over the course of a decade, the charity has already raised £55,670 for a catalogue of local causes, and over £40,000 for the Children's Hospital since 2003.

The group were also awarded Supporter of the Year Award from the Oxford University Hospitals NHS Trust last December in recognition of their support for the children's hospital.

Andrew Baker, the charity's founder, was a former patient at the hospital after suffering a brain injury at birth and undergoing brain surgery aged 12.

He was inspired by the treatment he received and has since dedicated himself to raise money for local charities including the hospital.

Since then, he has also earned the title of Oxfordshire Youth Award in 2013.

Signing for debut novel

AN OXFORDSHIRE author is "elated" after publishing her first novel - four years after putting pen to paper.

Jan Harvey will be signing copies of her debut novel, The Seven Letters, at The Tea Set Café, Chipping Norton, on Thursday, March 2, from 6pm to 8pm.

The book, which has already received 50 five star reviews by Amazon readers, is set in The Cotswolds and Paris and tells the story of a female Resistance fighter who is sent to spy on the German High Command.

Mrs Harvey, who lives in Shipton-under-Wychwood, near Chipping Norton, said: "The Seven Letters comes from my interest in the Resistance which grew out of my ongoing love of old black and white films.

"When I came to write the novel I discovered that the luxu-interesting it would be to put my main character, a young female resistance operative, inside one, undercover."

The 55-year-old who also runs women's business networking group Chippy Lippy, said she was "elated" to have the novel published and has already started on a second.

She said: "It is been a long road and I have had to do a lot of research, but all my findings on what is a little known aspect of World War Two came together when I began writing.

"The reviews have been tremendous and I have had over 50 five star reviews on Amazon since the launch in November."

The Seven Letters is for sale from March 2 as a paperback from all outlets or online.

Guard at library after anti-social behaviour

By Samantha McGregor

A SECURITY guard has been posted at Bicester Library after a series of anti-social behaviour incidents.

It comes after teenagers visited the library and caused problems for staff.

Details of what the anti-social behaviour entailed has not been released.

But Oxfordshire County Council said the security guard would be in place until the "problems are resolved".

The move comes less than a year after the library moved from cramped facilities in Old Place Yard to a spacious purpose built library in Franklins House, Pioneer Square, the final part of the £70million town centre redevelopment.

Some people took to social media to raise their concerns.

One resident wrote on Facebook that she was "shocked" the library had to "employ a full-time security guard following 'incidents'".

While another woman said: "I'm a member of a reading group that meets at the library. We arrived for our meeting to find the library was closing early due to staff shortages.

"Apparently they've had so

• A security guard is in place after "problems" at the library much anti-social behaviour that they can't operate with less than three members of staff and on this particular evening they didn't have the minimum number.

"It's very sad that due to the appalling behaviour of a small number of people we cannot use this wonderful facility.

"I hope the security guard will deter the perpetrators."

A spokesman for Oxfordshire County Council said: "There have been some issues relating to teenage anti-social behaviour in Bicester recently and the library has experienced some of this.

"We have a security guard on duty temporarily until the problems are resolved.

"Police are very much aware and have been very helpful to the library service."

A security guard is permanently on duty at Oxford Central Library and there are security guards at other libraries nationwide.

But this is the first time Bicester Library has needed extra security.

Last April, the library moved to five-storey Franklins House which is also home to a 53-bedroom Travelodge hotel, offices, Cherwell District Council's office and shop and restaurants.

Couple says adopting siblings was 'most rewarding thing we've done'

By Eva Astreinidou

A CHARITY that helps parents and children come together is searching for adopters who could provide a 'forever family' for groups of siblings who need to stay together.

Parents and Children Together (PACT) supports families across the south east through adoption, therapeutic support and community projects.

The charity is particularly looking for adopters who can enable siblings to stay together.

Five-year-old Sophie, three-year-old Ben and two-year-old Amy were adopted by Oxfordshire couple Louise and Tom in 2011 through the charity.

The couple adopted because they were unable to have their own children.

Louise, who said she and Tom were keen to adopt more than one child, said: "Being able to bring them back together was such an important thing for us."

Louise said that they received post-adoption support from the charity that meant that they could deal with the logistical challenges of adopting and caring for three children.

She added: "Every day was, and still is, a challenge. But we are just a regular family getting on with life and enjoying ourselves. We would not change it for the world."

Harry and his wife Claire adopted three siblings, all under four years old, through PACT in 2016.

Harry, from Oxford, will be running the London Marathon this April to raise funds and awareness for PACT. He said: "To adopt a sibling group of three has been the toughest and single most rewarding thing my wife and I have done."

"Our children have been kept together which in turn has helped with their transition to our family. Seeing their smiling, excited faces when I come home from work or get off early and pick them up from school is more than I had ever dreamed of."

Jonathan and Katherine, from Banbury, adopted three sisters in 2013.

Katherine said: "We are fortunate to be able to give a home to these three lovely girls. Now we have such a strong bond with them, they are part of our family and it's a privilege to be their mum."

PACT chief executive Jan Fishwick said: "Finding adopters with the skills and space for three children is crucial so that brothers and sisters, who have often had an unsettled enough start to their life, can be adopted and stay together with a new forever family."

"As is the case for all our adopted families, we will support families who have adopted three children for life through our specialist support and therapeutic services."

There are currently more than 2,000 children waiting to be adopted in England, many of them are in sibling groups of two or more.

The charity run adoption information evenings where anyone considering adoption can find out more. The next session will be in London on March 16.

Funds grow to help charity Thrive

A GARDEN centre in Nuneham Courtenay has raised over £1,000 for a charity that helps disabled and disadvantaged people through gardening.

Colleagues and customers at Notcutts Garden Centre have clubbed together to raise £1,020.75 for Reading-based charity Thrive by hosting a series of flower arranging masterclasses that attracted almost 200 people.

Notcutts centre manager Jonathan Tew said: "I am delighted our flower masterclass events were such a success.

"Not only were they lots of fun but they also raised money to support the incredible work that Thrive do."

"Gardening is a fantastic hobby and for many people can help improve their physical and mental health in a very positive way."

Kathryn Rossiter, CEO of Thrive, thanked Notcutts for their "wonderful donation".

She added: "The money will be spent on supporting our client gardeners and I am delighted that Notcutts have been able to see us in action when they visited our gardens at Beech Hill to make the donation and were given a tour."

Notcutts has supported Thrive for two years through a range of fundraising activities at all 18 centres nationwide, as well as through the Charles Notcutt Memorial Bursary, which enables students to complete an award in social and therapeutic horticulture.

Pupils dig planting their own wood with help from charity

By Eva Astreinidou

SCHOOLCHILDREN can plant their own wood through a local charity initiative aiming to promote the importance of woodland on wildlife-friendly land. The Wychwood Project helped pupils at the Windrush Valley School in Ascott-under-Wychwood establish their own woodland.

The Wychwood Project, working in partnership with The Conservation Volunteers' IDig Trees programme, helped pupils from 5 to 11 years old to plant their own wood.

The school provides lessons for all its pupils at the conservation centre run by Rob Gripper on his family's Manor Farm in the village.

Pupils work in a purpose-built classroom but also spend half their time studying outdoors.

Wychwood Project director, Sharon Williams, said: "We are delighted to be able to help children of all ages to get directly involved in conservation. If young people learn to appreciate early the part they can play sustaining our wonder filled natural world, we hope they will go on caring for our environment throughout their lives.

"This work complements our History Box initiative with West Oxfordshire Primary Schools, which explains the history of Wychwood Forest through the lives of local families."

The Wychwood Project is a conservation charity that is active across 120 square miles and 41 parishes, largely in West Oxfordshire.

It manages four conservation areas; Foxburrow Wood,

Grimes Meadow, Woodstock water meadows and Wigwell Nature Reserve.

The charity aims to raise awareness and appreciation for the history and identity of Wychwood, as well as help restore the landscape and encourage bio-diversity.

The charity is also responsible for animal conservation through its work on the barn owl project, coordinating visits to new sites to explore nest box possibilities for the well-known birds whose numbers have seen a significant decline due to the loss of hunting habitats.

The organisation hosts a 'forest fair', an annual fundraising event held in September that celebrates the diversity and richness of the natural world and raises awareness of the local wildlife and landscape conservation work of the Wychwood Project.

Forrest Gump runner back on the road again

By Samantha McGregor

FUNDRAISING runner Ewan Gordon will once again don his Forrest Gump costume – this time to run seven marathons in just one week.

In 2015 Mr Gordon, a civil servant, ran 1,050-miles from John O'Groats to Land's End – completing 26 miles on each of the 42 days of his challenge.

This time he plans to run around Oxfordshire to kick start the five year fundraising initiative by the Freemasons of Oxfordshire to raise money for its Masonic Charitable Foundation.

He will complete his first marathon on Saturday, starting at the Kassam Stadium before heading to Witney via Eynsham, Carterton and finishing in Burford.

During the week he will run to Banbury, Woodstock, Bicester, Oxford, Thame, Henley, Caversham, East Ilsley, Wantage, Faringdon, before finishing in Carterton.

Mr Gordon, Master of Theodore Lodge 8943 which meets in Bicester, has been running dressed as Forrest Gump for three years.

In the 1994 film, the title character, played by Tom Hanks, ran across America.

Mr Gordon said: "From February 25 to March 3, I will be running around the county of Oxfordshire

• Fundraising marathon runner Ewan hopes to raise cash to benefit Oxfordshire's charities in support of a five year fundraising campaign for the Masonic Charitable Foundation amongst the Freemasons of Oxfordshire.

"The Province of Oxfordshire starts its Fundraising Festival 2022 with a gala dinner at the Kassam Stadium on February 24. The following day, I start the run."

Graham Ellis, of Oxfordshire Freemasons, said: "Ewan's run will coincide with the launch to highlight the start of the festival."

"Ewan has been involved for a number of years with raising significant amounts of money for charities through his running."

"His efforts really embrace what the spirit of freemasonry is, which includes helping to contribute to the local community."

Among the Oxfordshire charities who have received donations from the Freemason's charity include Alzheimer's Research UK, Ludwig Institute for Cancer Research and Ley Community Project, who have shared £200,000 in the past year.

Mr Gordon ran the John O'Groats to Land's End challenge in memory of nine-year-old Thomas Laurie, from Bicester, who died in 2014 from Cockayne Syndrome - a rare premature ageing condition.

That run raised more than £9,000 for three charities that supported Thomas and his family: Respite Nursing for Oxfordshire's Sick Youngsters, Helen and Douglas House, and Amy and Friends, a Cockayne Syndrome support group.

Sounds of music

PUPILS from a Chipping Norton school transported guests to the rolling hills of Austria in a production of The Sound of Music.

Following months of rehearsals, Kingham Hill School students from Years 8 to 13 put on three performances of the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical to packed audiences.

Sixth former Lydia Waldman, 17, starred as Maria, and year 12 pupil James Tanner, 16, played Captain Trapp.

The cast got the audience singing along to classic songs from the show including 'Favourite Things', 'Edelweiss' and '16 going on 17'.

Helena Berkeley, Kingham Hill Latin teacher and The Sound of Music director, described the pupils' effort as "incredible".

She said: "I am so proud of all our pupils that took part in the production. From the outset, the pupils have been a joy to direct and their enthusiasm and excitement carried the show along."

"The pupils embodied their characters beautifully and conveyed the poignant message of the story excellently.

"The cast described themselves as a family and they really did work together so well, always supporting and encouraging each other."

"I hope that their experience of being a part of this show is something that will live with them forever."

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9×9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3×3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called “boxes”, “blocks”, “regions”, or “sub-squares”) contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

Competition

WIN tickets to see An American in Paris

WHO could ask for anything more?

Directly following celebrated engagements in New York and Paris, this critically acclaimed and multi Tony® Award-winning Broadway musical of love and hope lights up the West End from Saturday 4 March at London's Dominion Theatre.

Inspired by the Oscar® winning MGM film, An American in Paris features many of George and Ira Gershwin's timelessly popular songs and music, including I Got Rhythm, I'll Build a Stairway to Paradise, The Man I Love, They Can't Take That Away From Me and 'S Wonderful.

Featuring its original, award-winning Broadway stars, and an exceptional company of 50 actors, dancers and musicians, An American in Paris tells the story of a young American soldier striving to make it as a painter in the aftermath of war.

Following a chance encounter with a beautiful young dancer, the 'City of Light' becomes the backdrop to a sensuous, modern romance of art, friendship and love.

Staged by some of the most celebrated theatre-makers in the world (including director and choreographer Christopher Wheeldon and designer Bob Crowley, together with the writer

Closing date: Tuesday, February 28

Craig Lucas), don't miss this breathtakingly beautiful production that The New York Times called "a dazzling, transporting musical that turns Paris into a kaleidoscope of romance".

Dominion Theatre, 268-269 Tottenham Court Rd, London W1T 7AQ.

Previews start from 4th March 2017
We have teamed up with An American in Paris to offer our readers the chance to win a pair of tickets to one of the preview performances.

Win tickets

There are x3 pairs of tickets to be won. To be in with a chance of winning one just answer the following simple question:

How do you like YOUR eggs in a morning?

The Farmhouse Kitchen is the restaurant next to the Farm Shop at Millets Farm in Frilford, just a hop and a skip from the A34 at Abingdon. But what makes The Farmhouse Kitchen worthy of a visit you may ask?

Forget the fact that there is ample FREE parking all over the site, forget the fact that there are many retail distractions on site with the Farm Shop, Garden Centre, Soame Interiors and many more to help you browse away your time at Millets!

The Farmhouse Kitchen is worthy of a visit as when it opens at 9am each and every day, breakfast is served in so many different ways and in some way the "egg" is the star as they will cook it to your liking!

You may be a Full English Breakfast lover, or prefer the lighter Cottage Breakfast where you chose the five items you want! Or a favourite of our regulars is the Farmer's Roll packing in bacon, sausage and a fried egg in our homemade Millets Bap!

Simplicity is key to a great breakfast and our Smoked Salmon & Scrambled Eggs is a delicate offering whilst scrambled eggs on toast, simple toast & jam or a pick from our continental pastries may be more your preference?

But for me the menu comes alive with classics like Eggs Royale (smoked salmon, poached eggs with Hollandaise sauce on a homemade toasted muffin) Eggs Benedict (honey roast ham) or Eggs Florentine (steamed spinach) all of which are cooked to order and served with poached eggs and Hollandaise.

Looking forward to breakfast now?

Daren Fisher – Millets Farm.

Who Cares?

A scent of Spring from a daffodil

One of the most quoted poems of all time, I Wandered Lonely as a Cloud by William Wordsworth, describes how the loneliness of a cold and wet winter in the Lake District was cured by a field of daffodils dancing in the wind on the bank of the lake Ullswater.

There's something heart-warming about the first glimpse of a daffodil on a grass verge or in a hedgerow, a tantalising reminder of the golden glow of the sun and a promise of that spring is on its way to bring some brightness to the bleak winter countryside. It's one of the first plants to bloom in spring, and marks the return of flowering plants to gardens after winter hibernation, and because of this the Marie Curie Cancer Care Charity uses the daffodil as a metaphor for bringing life to other people through charitable giving, and across the UK in March you'll see people are wearing daffodils on their lapels.

A vase of flowers on the windowsill, and the crisp fresh scents of spring air for many people bring back memories of years gone by. Just the hint of a scent or perfume from the past can instantly trigger memories from a childhood long ago, or you might be immediately transported back in time to a much younger you.

Does the scent of a newborn baby, for example, remind you of the days when your own children were young?

Our sense of smell is one of the most powerful senses we possess, and the most evocative – yet while we rely so much on what we see and hear day-in day-out, it is rare to actually think about the smells we are experiencing. That doesn't mean we aren't storing these aromas in our memory banks! The olfactory bulb in the brain's limbic system which registers smell is very closely related to memory, and scientific research has shown that the link in our brains between memory and smell is more direct than that between memory and the other senses. Smells become a part of emotional memories, can be a powerful memory stimulant and can be used to retrieve long-term memories and emotional responses otherwise lost to the conscious mind. It's often a useful way to trigger happy emotions or the feeling of comfort.

And smells can unlock new memories in a person's mind. Just as the smell of gingerbread, oranges, and cinnamon can conjure up a festive feeling, a soap from the 1950s, the scent a person's mum wore when they were small, herbs and spices or the flowers from a childhood garden can all unearth rich warm memories that have previously been locked away. This can be particularly poignant when a person suffers from memory loss, so next time you are visiting an elderly or house-bound friend or relative, think about taking an olfactory surprise – it can be a great trigger for conversations and reminiscences in the most unlikely candidates!

Longer tenancy agreements – how will I be affected?

Whether you're a tenant or a landlord, the chances are the recent Housing White Paper which, amongst things, referenced longer tenancy agreements, will have left you confused and uncertain of what you're entitled to and what you're obliged to offer.

Headlines immediately following the White Paper spoke of making renting fairer to tenants and of encouraging family-friendly tenancies. Tenancy periods of three years were referenced and yet, less than 24 hours later, the focus had shifted to say that wasn't the case and longer tenancies would only apply on new 'build to rent' developments.

With the white paper claiming to focus on "fixing our broken housing market", the confusion which has since developed has done anything but help the wider situation. However, the reality has in fact changed very little and any reputable lettings agent will be able to advise you on the tenancy options available whether you're the landlord or the tenant.

Here at Andrews, most of our rental customers are living in properties on assured shorthold tenancy arrangements – but that's a world away from stating that the majority of our customers are living in properties where the tenancy length has been agreed at seven or twelve months. Simply, the length of term is agreed between landlord and tenant.

There is no set rule for setting tenancy lengths and whilst, under the assured shorthold tenancy framework, six or 12 months tends to be the norm, there are a host of circumstances in which flexibility leads to alternative lengths.

Take, for example, a landlord who is planning to sell a property. He is likely to choose to market that property on a shorter tenancy of around six months, and consequently attract tenants who are similarly looking for a stop-gap solution, perhaps whilst they find a property to purchase themselves.

A landlord, meanwhile, who is focused on the investment aspect of buy-to-let, is likely to prefer a tenant who is happy to commit for a longer term in the region of two years.

And, of course, there are pros and cons of all tenancy lengths.

In a long term let scenario, perhaps where families move in to a school catchment area, you're assured that the property will be occupied for a set time over the longer term, whilst also having a legal commitment from someone to pay the rent.

Shorter term lets, meanwhile, are more likely to appeal to those with a more transient lifestyle, often because of work commitments, although these will mean the agent is sourcing new tenants at an increased frequency.

If the recent housing White Paper has left you confused over tenancy types and lengths, then pop in to your local branch of Andrews – there are five across Oxfordshire – or visit andrewsonline.co.uk.

Let's unpick the Oxford market a little more

Bill Cooper, co-author of The Oxford Property Blog and managing director of Martin and Co, Oxford rules, there have been fewer completed transactions by landlords buying to privately let their properties. The Government will chalk that up as a success, believing that it frees the market for owner occupiers, avoiding landlord demand pushing-up house prices.

Has demand reduced?

No, demand for Oxford homes has apparently remained constant or at least it has remained balanced with available supply of properties for sale. Rightmove reports that prices in 2016 were six per cent up on the previous 12 months; Zoopla reports that they were just 3.9 per cent higher. According to DataLoft which monitors all sales, in the 12 months to October 2016, prices were up 10 per cent. Given that Land Registry data is holistic it makes most sense to place most reliance on the DataLoft data.

If demand from landlords has reduced due to the increased costs of stamp duty, one has to assume that demand from owner occupiers has filled the void.

How have different property types performed?

The table below shows the average increases in value for different property types for Oxford as a whole, and for major post code segments, based on Land Registry data for the 12 months to October 2016. It shows quite broad variation across Oxford and between property types.

Overall, flats/apartments have performed strongly in OX3, OX4, and particularly in OX5. Terraced properties in OX1 and OX2 have done well, reflecting the higher density of this housing in key post-codes. Detached homes performed strongly across post codes except for OX3. The street with the highest number of transactions was OX5.

How will Oxford property prices perform in 2017?

Whilst transaction volumes continue to be below pre-April 2016 levels, the market is stable as we enter 2017. Nationally, Rightmove is reporting asking prices are up 0.4 per cent in January, which is consistent with the Office of Budget Responsibility (OBR) estimate that prices will rise 3.4 per cent across the country in 2017. In 2016, Oxford property out-performed the national average of 6.4 per cent and I expect it to continue that trend. When my clients ask me for my prediction, I say the best properties will achieve six per cent.

Arrival of spring is good news for sellers, says agent Connells in the better weather, but increased appetite to move during the spring period means sellers will have more prospective buyers competing to buy their home making it more likely you will achieve the best price."

Connells traditionally experiences a spike in buyer interest during the spring period and, since 2014, has recorded on average 19 per cent more people registering their interest in a new home each March compared to the previous month. Connells also currently has nearly 12 buyers registered for each property that comes onto the market.

"We almost always see a rush of buyers entering the market in springtime," Ajay added. "It seems that many feel inspired by the warmer weather and longer days to start making plans for the future, including looking for a new home. We're advising home owners to get their property on the market now and take advantage of the high demand for homes – sellers are in a strong position to achieve a good price and a quick sale."

To find out more about selling your property, the local market or to arrange a free market appraisal, contact Connells on 01865 748448, or email cowley@connells.co.uk.

Get your property on the market now if you're serious about selling, says local estate agency Connells in Cowley.

According to the branch, the spring period is traditionally one of the busiest times of the year for searching for property. As people shake off the cobwebs of winter and the weather gets warmer, potential buyers will be out in force looking for a new home.

"Spring is a great time to sell," said Ajay Kumar, branch manager at Connells in Cowley. "Not only are properties a lot more aesthetically pleasing

Local estate agent, Davis Tate, appoints new managing director

Local estate and letting agent, Davis Tate, has announced the appointment of Matthew Bates as its new managing director following the decision by its founder members, Matthew Davis and David Tate, to step down from the position following 25 successful years at the helm. Both, however, will play an active role in the business moving forward.

The agency, which was established by Davis and Tate in Goring on Thames in 1991, is one of the most successful estate and letting agents in the region – with 80 staff working from 13 offices across Berkshire and South Oxfordshire including offices in Abingdon, Burghfield Common, Didcot, Goring on Thames, Henley on Thames, Pangbourne, Reading, Shinfield, Sonning Common, Shinfield, Twyford, Wantage, Wallingford and Woodley.

In 2016 it won the prestigious Sunday Times Estate Agency of the Year Award for the South East in acknowledgement of its exceptional customer services – beating off tough competition from across the region and adding to numerous awards it has won over the years.

Matthew – who grew up in Reading and continues to live nearby – takes up the role following 23 years in the property industry working within the lettings and residential sales markets and more recently as lettings director within Davis Tate – where he has worked for the last 12 years.

Matthew said: "I am obviously delighted to have been promoted to this new position and look forward to building on the success of my predecessors Matthew and David who have undoubtedly ensured that Davis Tate is now positioned as one of the most successful agencies in the region."

"This is a great opportunity for me to work with existing local teams and to ensure that we can continue to successfully support more and more local customers with our award winning service."

If you would like to find out how Davis Tate can help you as a buyer, seller, landlord or tenant, simply contact your local branch – details are available via davistate.com.

Puppets bring horror story to life

By James Richings

THIS evening will be a scary one in Didcot but look out for the twist.

Mary Shelley's classic Frankenstein is being performed at the Cornerstone Arts Centre tonight, but puppets will be used to tell the tale.

Bracknell-based Blackeyed Theatre Company will tell one of the world's most popular horror stories at the Station Road venue.

For puppeteer and puppet maker Yvonne Stone, the chance to be part of a different interpretation of the story penned in 1818 was a no-brainer.

She said: "The story of 'Frankenstein' is all about bringing life to an inanimate object and using puppetry perfectly embodies this."

"As the electricity enters the creature, we see the puppeteers breathe life in to him."

"Puppets also have slightly different rules to humans which gives us so many possibilities."

Fascinated by puppets throughout her life, Yvonne studied puppetry at the Central School of Speech and Drama in London, having previously attended the Byam Shaw School of Art.

She is now an independent puppet designer, maker and performer and her work involves making puppets and performing with them for film, television and theatre.

She was given the challenge of designing the Frankenstein creature for the show.

"There have been many challenges with the project," Yvonne told the Guardian.

"The sheer scale of the tour is a challenge in itself, trying to create something that can do this number of venues with hopefully very little maintenance."

"Making lightweight puppets is also a huge challenge, particularly if you want them to be this durable as well."

"I have really tried to push my making skills on this project, trying to create a puppet that can hopefully express real subtleties of movement despite his large size."

She added: "I've grown really fond of the creature as I've been making him, so I really hope that the audience feel some empathy for him."

"He didn't ask to be created by Frankenstein and even though he obviously does some terrible things throughout the play he is quite a tortured soul and I hope that comes across."

Tickets cost from £12 to £15.

It starts at 7pm and is suitable for anyone over the age of 12.

Veridian are out to get their hooks into you

By James Richings

THE last 17 months have been incredible for Veridian.

In that time the six-piece rock band from Reading formed, recorded four singles, and have gained nearly 3,000 fans on their Facebook page.

The future looks bright for the group. And after their incredibly successful debut gig in their home town last March, the band hope it will be a case of 'more of the same' when they play at the O2 Academy on Saturday, March 4.

The band arrive at the Cowley Road venue as part of their UK tour with fellow rock/punk band Evarose.

"It will be our first time at the O2 Academy in Oxford, although we used to attend gigs there when growing up so we're very excited to be playing such a prestigious venue," guitarist Joe Sellers told the Guardian.

"It's a great venue so we can definitely expect the crowd to be lively.

"Also, to get back on the road was very exciting for us.

"We visited some places we had been to before and some new ones. Just to have people singing our lyrics back to us was an incredible feeling."

Made up of lead singer Simon Jackman, guitarists Rob Everett and Joe Sellers, bassist Jonny Slevin, Zak Watson on the drums and keyboardist James Marshall Stack (aka Stack), the group met when playing in different bands.

They would regularly meet at various gigs across the Reading area before leaving their respected groups to form their own band in September 2015, where they began to rehearse tunes that Simon and Robbie had written.

Coverage from the likes of the BBC, Scuzz, Punkastic and Kerrang Radio have helped put the band firmly on the music map, as they embark on a small tour across the UK with fellow punk/rock group Evarose.

But despite the recent fame, Joe insists the band are keeping their head down and improving their craft.

"We're just taking everything one step at a time and we're not getting too ahead of ourselves," he said.

"But I do believe that our songs have the catchiest hooks that will get stuck in people's heads.

"They'll go away and listen to our music and share it."

Tickets cost £9 and the gig starts at 6.30pm.

Life after shooting

FILM: Jackie will be shown at the Corn Exchange in Wallingford tomorrow night, Friday, February 24.

Starring Natalie Portman as the title character, the biographical drama examines the life of the former First Lady Jackie Kennedy Onassis after her husband, John F. Kennedy, was assassinated in November 1963.

Tickets cost £7 and the movie will start at 7.30pm.

Finely tuned wires

MUSIC: Oxfordshire covers band The Wirebirds will be gigging at The Old Anchor in Abingdon on Saturday, February 25.

The four-piece group, which specialises in blues and rock tunes, will perform the free gig from 9pm.

Bee a winner!

MUSIC: You Win Again – The Story of The Bee Gees will be performed at the Cornerstone Arts Centre, Didcot next Thursday, March 2.

The show arrives at the Station Road venue following a successful run on the West End last year.

It starts at 8pm and tickets cost from £16 to £20.

Sharing their love of music

By James Richings

IT will be the end of an era when Miranda Sykes and Rex Preston arrive at Finstock Village Hall on Friday, March 3.

The past seven years have seen the duo travel the country, release two critically acclaimed albums and gain thousands of fans across the UK.

But the visit to the hall near Chipping Norton is part of their farewell tour.

Miranda told the Guardian that their time was up, and hope they can give their Oxfordshire audience a show to remember.

Miranda and Rex's final gig together as part of their tour will take place on March 9 in Doncaster, whilst their last performance together will take place in June at the Wirral Folk Festival.

"It is very rewarding when you play music and you connect with an audience," she told the Guardian.

"It may be a sigh or audible gasp at the end of a tune or a particularly rousing applause.

"Feedback after a gig is so very nice too, chatting to the audience at the end. You get to meet so many lovely people when you travel."

She added: "We have never played in Finstock before but always like being in the area.

"We have both spent a lot of time at Kingham Hill School with Sore Fingers Week and love Chipping Norton along with the surrounding areas."

The two first met back in 2009 when they joined The Scoville Units, a bluegrass group where Rex played the mandolin and Miranda played the double bass.

Their chemistry from the band led Miranda and Rex to embark on their own journey touring the country, whilst working on other projects, with Miranda also being a member of the country group Show of Hands and Rex working with Cara Dillon and Kate Rusby.

And with folk music now making a resurgence in the mainstream charts, Miranda firmly believes that she and Rex have left their mark on the industry.

"I feel that as a musician one of my jobs is to take music to people who don't have easy access to it," she said.

"I do community work when I can - taking participatory concerts out to the elderly and when I was eight years old I lived rurally in a little village near Spalding in Lincolnshire.

"I was very lucky as I had a group of peripatetic teachers visit my village primary school and encourage us that we were entitled to 20 minutes free tuition a week on an instrument of our choice.

"I went home enthusing about seeing the double bass.

"My parents encouraged me and invested a lot of time in taking me into

Spalding and back for lessons once a week.

"It's all thanks to them and also thank you to the teachers for enthusing me."

The Well Hill gig will start at 7.30pm and tickets cost £11.

Tribute to Bowie

MUSIC: The Bowie Experience will be at the New Theatre in Oxford next Thursday, March 2.

Starring Laurence Knight as the late musician, the George Street venue will hear tracks such as Space Oddity, Under Pressure, Let's Dance and many more.

It begins at 7.30pm.

HippyHaze gig

MUSIC: Oxford-based band HippyHaze will be gigging at The Elm Tree in Witney this Saturday.

The trio will perform a number of popular hits from 1966 to 1969 at the West End venue.

The gig is free and starts at 9pm.

Make it Shappi!

COMEDY: Comedienne Shappi Khorsandi will be at the Chipping Norton Theatre tomorrow, Friday.

The 43-year-old visits the Spring Street venue as part of her Oh My Country UK tour.

The show is suitable for anyone over the age of 16. It starts at 7.45pm.

THE NIGHTINGALE AND ROSE

"If you want a red rose," said the tree, "you must build it out of music by moonlight, and stain it with your own heart's blood."

What is love and what should we sacrifice for it? When a young student falls head-over-heels, the only way to win his heart's desire is to give her the reddest rose in the world. All seems lost until a nightingale hears the student's lament; to what ends will the little bird go to help love succeed?

Oscar Wilde's short story is adapted by students Bea Udale-Smith and Georgia Heneage. It combines the emotional intensity of Wilde's language with ensemble physical theatre.

Mazda3 2.2 150ps Sport Nav Diesel

By Tony Yates

THE new 2017 Mazda3 has been recently updated with a revised grille with a stronger three-dimensional look, a new front fog light bezel and the availability of LED headlamp technology across both body styles, along with revised door mirrors featuring wrap-around turn indicators, while hatchback versions feature a newly redesigned rear bumper.

The interior has also had a makeover to help it feel more driver-oriented. You will also find a host of updates that include higher-quality switch panels and handle bezels on the doors, and a newly designed dashboard trim insert and the adoption of an electric parking brake creates space for a more practical centre console.

Power and efficiency

My test car was fitted with a 150PS, 2,191cc common-rail diesel engine which has a low-friction and lightweight all-alloy construction which all helps to keep it as efficient as possible. The engine also has a Twin-turbo layout which helps minimise turbo lag and you can feel that working its magic as soon as you press the pedal – that of course also helps improve mid-range punch between gear changes and when overtaking is a must.

Fuel economy is also very good and I achieved 58.5mpg on the combined cycle. The engine also easily meets stringent EU Stage 6 emission levels without the need for any expensive after-treatment systems which is good news for the owner. 0 to 62 also arrives in 8.1 sec and it will reach a top speed of 130 mph.

Every model in the Mazda3 range is fitted with Mazda's innovative i-stop intelligent idle-stop technology. Developed entirely in-house and tailored specifically for its application in Mazda's new generation of SKYACTIV-Engines.

On the road

I like the way the Mazda3 handles the road – it feels very well balanced. Also, when the road gets twisty – it is more than capable of holding its own. The steering also feels light and agile – and you get enormous feedback from the front wheels as to what the road surface is doing below. Also, when you hook all this up to its fantastic 6 speed gearbox – you can't really go wrong – It's no exaggeration for me to say that I think the Mazda3 has a lot of manufacturers a little bit worried right about now.

Safety and technology

Some of the standard features on the Mazda3 include; ABS with Electronic Brakeforce Distribution (EBD) and Brake Assist (EBA), Dynamic Stability Control (DSC), a Traction Control System (TCS), an Emergency Stop Signalling System (ESS), Hill Launch Assist (HLA), and a Tyre Pressure Monitoring System (TPMS). It is also fitted with six airbags – dual front, side airbags and full-length curtain, while ISOFIX rear seats and five three-point seatbelts with pre-tensioners complete the standard safety package.

To sum up

Mazda really have done a fantastic job here – and the new Mazda3 is now well above any of its rivals and it should do well in its current newly revised form.

The all-new Mazda MX-5 RF

- The all-new Mazda MX-5 RF Retractable Fastback on sale from the 4th March 2017
- Priced from £22,195 to £28,995 the all-new Mazda MX-5 RF joins the award-winning MX-5 range
- Limited to just 500 cars, the £28,995 Launch Edition features unique styling and equipment.

WITH production having started at Mazda's Ujina Plant in Hiroshima Japan, the all-new Mazda MX-5 RF Retractable Fastback will go on sale on the UK on the 4th March 2017.

With the first cars produced heading to Europe and North America, UK drivers will be able to get behind the wheel of Mazda's exciting new MX-5 Retractable Fastback early next year.

With a limited run of just 500 cars, the six model range will be heralded by the flagship Launch Edition. Powered by a 160ps 2.0-litre SKYACTIV-G engine, the Launch Edition is marked out by its unique twin-tone roof, BBS wheels, black door mirrors and black rear spoiler. Available with a choice of free-of-charge Soul Red or Machine Grey metallic paint, it also comes with a Safety Pack as standard, while the exclusive feel continues inside with Alcantara trim and Recaro seats.

Designed to offer a new dimension of open-top driving fun, while at the same time staying true to the underlying principle of the previous generation MX-5 retractable hardtop, the all-new Mazda MX-5 RF's 'fastback' styling gives it a unique appearance roof up or down, broadening the appeal of the world's best-selling two-seater sports car.

As with the established Mazda MX-5 convertible, all models powered by the 2.0-litre 160ps engine feature a limited slip differential and 17-inch wheels; while Sport Nav models (and the Launch Edition) feature Bilstein dampers and strut brace to further enhance their dynamic set up. Plus, with the introduction of the £27,095 Sport Nav Auto, the current generation of MX-5 is offered with an automatic gearbox for the first time in the UK. Offered in both SE-L Nav and Sport Nav trim, RF's powered by the 1.5-litre 131ps engine will arrive in dealerships in May.

Developed to deliver enhanced cabin comfort and a refined ride, while at the same time maintaining the agility, performance and driver engagement of the MX-5 convertible, the suspension and electric power steering parameters of the all-new Mazda MX-5 RF have been specifically tuned for the Retractable Fastback. In addition, a sound-absorbing headliner used in the front and middle roof panels combines with sound insulation around the rear wheel housings to deliver a significantly quieter cabin when the roof is closed.

"With the all-new Mazda MX-5 RF we freed ourselves from traditional ways of thinking and took on fresh challenges in order to create something new. Our aim was a convertible sports car with gorgeous fastback lines when the roof is closed and an exhilarating open-air feeling when open", commented Nobuhiro Yamamoto, Mazda MX-5 Programme Manager.

The MX-5 RF's retractable hardtop consists of front, middle and rear roof sections, and a rear screen. When the top is lowered the front and middle portions are stowed together, while the rear glass sits behind the seats, leaving the rear roof section in place to create a unique open-topped look, and a cabin feeling that combines a sense of open air freedom with the impression of being securely ensconced within the car.

On the Launch Edition the front and middle roof sections feature a piano black finish that contrasts with the Soul Red or Machine Grey metallic paint, which both use Mazda's unique "TAKUMINURI" paint process to deliver glossy depth and nuanced shading that intensifies the contrasts between light and shadow with its high-density finish, giving the impression that the body was sculpted from a solid block of steel.

Building on the all-new Mazda MX-5's award-winning design, the RF's roof up style will set it apart when it arrives on UK roads early next year. A 5mm increase in roof height aside, the RF retains the same overall length, width and wheelbase as the MX-5 convertible, but thanks to gently downward sloping buttresses that tuck in at the sides to create a tear-drop shape, the RF's elegant fastback silhouette accentuates the MX-5's dynamic and contemporary sports car proportions in a completely unique way.

"If we consider the convertible model to represent the purist of lightweight sports car appeal, the new Retractable Fastback epitomises a new type of MX-5 that aims to be a compact sports car with a natural charm that everyone will find beautiful", commented Masashi Nakayama, Mazda MX-5 Chief Designer.

With pre-order now open, the all-new Mazda MX-5 RF will arrive in dealerships on the 4th March 2017 and promises to add another chapter in the MX-5 success story. Jeremy Thomson, Managing Director of Mazda Motors UK said, "we're very excited about the arrival of the all-new Mazda MX-5 RF. It will add a unique and stylish model to our range, one that stands distinct from the MX-5 Convertible, yet retains all the award-winning driver appeal our sports car is famed for."

Adding, "with over 120,000 sales since its launch in 1990, the UK has played a huge part in the MX-5 success story. The last generation of retractable hardtop accounted for a large percentage of MX-5 sales and we expect the all-new RF to continue that trend."

THE LAW HAS CHANGED ...
DO YOU HAVE THE CORRECT GAS?

We can now offer
R1234YF car air-con
recharge and service

Is your car 2013 or newer? If so, you will need the correct gas.

As of the 7th September 2016 we are able to offer R1234yf refrigerant re-gassing, or a car air-con recharge as sometimes known at our Wheatley Car Centre Branch.

This gas is compulsory for new cars from 2013 all be it has been around since 2010, although some manufacturers are still refusing to use this, notably Mercedes who are not happy with the flammable nature of the gas, which in turn means not many companies offer the re-gassing service for cars using r1234yf. But due to the amount of cars we sell we have needed to be able have this service onsite so we can now offer this service to our customers.

A common question is why the old, r134a gas found in most cars today, is being replaced?

It's driven by environmental concerns as the new gas is more environmentally friendly.

So, for ALL your re-gas and service needs please contact our Wheatley Car Centre Service Department, tel. 01865 874046 opt 2 • www.wheatleycarcentre.co.uk

Renault pull the covers off 'sexy looking' car for 2017

By Adam Flinn

THE first of Oxfordshire's Formula One teams has pulled the covers off its challenger for the 2017 season.

Enstone-based Renault unveiled the RS17 at a ceremony in London on Tuesday, announcing they are targeting a fifth-place finish in this year's constructors' championship.

A host of new regulations are in place for this season, including wider and heavier cars and fatter rear tyres, with the cars expected to be several seconds a lap quicker than last year's machines.

This year's Renault will be driven by Nico Hulkenberg and Jolyon Palmer, and the team will be desperate for an improvement on their ninth-place result in 2016.

Cyril Abiteboul, managing director of Renault Sport Racing, said: "For 2017 we are perfectly placed to take the step forward we all desire."

"The RS17 is the result of many long working hours spent over our two integrated locations (in Enstone and Viry, France) and the result is a car we can be proud of.

"We are the fastest growing F1 team and we now need to prove our performance on track, and our objective is to score points at every round."

This year's Renault is considered to be the French manufacturer's first of the modern era, after a late takeover of Lotus at the end of 2015 meant they had a limited influence on last year's car.

Jerome Stoll, president of Renault Sport Racing, said: "The RS17 is the first car which Enstone and Viry have been able to plan and develop from the outset, and we're satisfied by the fruits of this interaction."

"For 2017 our performance targets are clear. We want to take a definite, tangible step forward in performance and results, and fifth position in the constructors' championship is our goal."

Hulkenberg and Palmer pulled the covers off the RS17 to reveal it to the world on Tuesday.

Palmer stays with the team after scoring one point in his rookie season last year, while Hulkenberg has joined from Force India.

Hulkenberg said: "It looks sexy, when I first saw it in the wind tunnel I was impressed.

"It's all about having a strong package as you need a car that is a good all-rounder to perform well across the season. That's what I'm looking for."

Palmer added: "There are so many unknowns that I think it's exciting for all drivers across the grid, but for us with our first proper designed and conceived race car it's going to be very interesting."

"The RS17 looks really racy and I can't wait to taste it on track for the first time."

Pre-season testing begins in Barcelona on Monday, with the first race of the season in Australia on March 26.

Williams release teaser of new season challenger

AHEAD of their official car launch on Saturday, Williams have released a digital image of the FW40 in which Felipe Massa and Lance Stroll will contest the 2017 season.

The Grove-based team is celebrating its 40th anniversary in the sport this year, and will be looking to build upon their fifth-place finish in the 2016 standings.

In a separate announcement, Williams also confirmed that British racer Paul di Resta will remain their reserve driver for this season.

Deputy team principal Claire Williams said: "It's great for us to retain someone with Paul's experience in the team."

"His extensive Formula One knowledge will once again be invaluable, especially with new regulations in place for the 2017 season."

Fellow Oxfordshire team Haas, who are based in Banbury, will unveil their new car the following day, this Sunday.

Tributes paid to Oxford Hockey Club's goalkeeper Tim

TRIBUTES have been flooding in for a hockey player who died playing the game he loved.

Tim Bence was playing in goal for Oxford Hockey Clubs 7th team against British Airways Hockey Club 2s at QPR Football Club's training ground at Harlington, London, when he collapsed on February 11.

Despite prompt medical assistance from team-mates, medical staff at the football club, and paramedics, Tim could not be revived. The game was immediately abandoned.

Oxford's Club chairman Richard Oakes said: "We are still in shock as he was genuinely such a nice guy."

"Tim has been a keen and enthusiastic member of the club for many years playing in goal for both the men's and mixed sections and he readily endeared himself to both team members and opponents alike."

"He will be sorely missed by the club and our thoughts are with his family and friends at this difficult time."

Tributes have poured in on the club's social media site from players, friends and former players.

Anand Gupta said: "Tim was an amazing man. Never met someone so good natured in such an innocent way. Was always happy, never sad. Always gave me a big bear hug before every game. Wish I could give him one now."

Lucy Brady added: "The world has lost one of the most genuine and kind men. A man who touched the hearts of everyone he met with the biggest goalie padded hugs and the greatest words of encouragement."

His mixed captain Harriet Bryant said: "Tim you filled our hockey goal and my heart with fun and laughter. As a friend and a team mate I will greatly miss you. Rest in peace xx."

British Airways Hockey Club, who were the opponents at the time said they offered their deepest condolences to the family and friends of Tim. They said: "It is events like this which prove winning or losing is actually secondary to just enjoying the game and having a beer or two afterwards."

The club is presently thinking how to honour Tim in the long-term.

Stars fail to shine against Thunder

OXFORD City Stars lost to Milton Keynes Thunder for the fourth time this season to bring an end to their resurgent league form.

The Stars had thrashed the Thunder 8-1 at the Oxford Ice Rink earlier this month, but the tables turned when the pair clashed in Buckinghamshire on Sunday and Milton Keynes ran out 4-1 winners.

Ross Bowers and Hallden Barnes-Garner fired the home side into a 2-0 lead at the half-way stage.

Jaroslav Cesky gave Simon Anderson's side hope by halving the deficit on 34 minutes, but a fifth match unbeaten wasn't to be when the Thunder struck back with two goals.

First, Jakub Klima re-established the home side's two-goal advantage on 46 minutes, before Harrison Goode converted with three minutes later to make it 4-1 and wrap up the win.

The Stars have won just two of the six meetings in all competitions with sixth placed Milton Keynes.

Oxford, who remain fourth in the NIHL South 1, will be looking to bounce back when they host basement club Bracknell Hornets on Sunday evening.

Season kicks off with cup victory

OXFORD RL held off a late Coventry fight-back to make it through to the quarter-finals of the League 1 Cup for the second year running.

Tim Rumford's men were in the lead for almost the entire game, but won the first match of the season by the narrowest of margins in a 30-28 victory at Tilsley Park on Saturday.

The Dark Blues, who named eight debutants, made the perfect start with a Josh Atkinson try and Will Cooke conversion.

Oxford extended the lead through Callum Windley when he dived through a gap on the line. But by half-time the score had closed to 10-6 when Jack Morrison found a large hole in the Oxford defence to score under the posts.

Oxford started the second half in the same way as the first with a score four minutes in through Kane Riley, but Cooke missed his conversion.

The Dark Blues extended their lead to 20 points with two more tries through Scott Fleming and Atkinson's second try.

With seven minutes left and an emphatic lead, the result seemed clear, but Coventry second rower Matt Reid had other ideas.

In that spell, he scored a hat-trick, all converted by Will Roper. The three tries were similar, in that they involved Reid crashing over the line from close range with defenders unable to stop him.

But it proved too late for the resurgent Bears as the hooter went immediately after Roper's final conversion to give Oxford the win, but only just.

Hoops end winless run as Jones reviews time as boss

By George Welch

LEE Henderson scored the only goal of the game as Oxford City squeezed passed Hemel Hempstead at Court Place Farm and ended their winless run on Saturday.

Defender Henderson struck shortly before half-time with what proved the winner as the Hoops won their first league game since New Year's Day.

Things looked bleak for City when they conceded a penalty after just three minutes, but were handed a lifeline as Jordan Parkes fired his spot-kick over the bar.

Both sides struggled to break the deadlock in an evenly matched contest but it was the hosts who took the lead seven minutes before half-time when Henderson headed home from a Jean Niate cross.

The visitors had good chances to level after the break, but either found City stopper Craig Hill on good form or were profligate with their finishing, meaning City picked up their first clean sheet since December 17.

Temporary boss Mark Jones, who has been in charge for two months, has been reflecting on his first nine games in charge, during which he has won four, drawn three and lost two matches.

Speaking before Saturday's win he said he has been keen to stamp his own print on the club after he replaced Justin Merritt in December.

When Jones took charge, the Hoops were struggling and languishing 17th in the National League South, six points above the relegation zone.

But 15 points from nine league games later and the club is now sitting a more comfortable 12 points above the drop and in 14th place.

His appointment has seen fresh faces behind the scenes as well as on the pitch, as Tyrell Belford, Shaun Macauley and Tom Winters have all left the club – the latter two temporarily – while Kaiman Anderson, Jean Niate and Wilson Carvalho have all been signed up.

He said: "Bringing my own people in was very important to me. I felt we needed some fresh faces and new ideas on the training pitch.

"I appreciate that everybody has an opinion and that's what makes football so interesting, but I will always do what I believe is right for the team and the club. Although the next game is what we always focus on I do have one eye on looking ahead to next season and the type of team I want to build, which is a young, hungry team with energy and pace in all areas of the pitch."

City, who remain in 14th place in the National League South, host their third game in a row when they welcome Dartford to Court Place Farm on Saturday.

Play-off surge halted

NORTH Leigh lost their first game of 2017 in a disappointing 3-1 defeat at Barnstaple Town as their play-off charge took a hit on Saturday.

John Brough's side, who were eight games unbeaten, slipped down to 10th in Division 1 South & West following their first defeat since the end of December in a game in which they were outplayed and outplayed.

Leigh's long trip to north Devon seemed pointless from the off as they fell behind within two minutes to a close-range Ryan Turner strike.

The Millers struggled to recover from the early shock but gradually gained a foothold in the game and were dominant by the time the west Oxfordshire side equalised on 30 minutes.

The goal came from a well worked move, which saw George Seacole run into the home penalty area and flick the ball to Morgan Williams, who placed a left foot shot beyond the reach of home keeper Steven Oliver into the far corner from 10 yards.

However, Barnstaple regained the lead with a simple goal when Turner headed home on 36 minutes. Town's defence remained solid and frustrated the visiting Millers. And frustration turned to desperation when Barnstaple scored their third goal on 77 minutes.

Leigh were wasteful in possession and gifted the ball to Barnstaple playmaker Jack Jenkins, who controlled the ball on the edge of the area and hit a glorious right foot shot beyond Lewis Clayton.

The Millers, now 11 points off the play-offs with three games in hand, will try to get back to winning ways when they host 15th placed Larkhall Athletic, who have won just one game in their last 13, on Saturday.

Learoyd's header rescues a point for Didcot

A LAST minute header from Adam Learoyd salvaged a point for Didcot Town in a 2-2 draw with Bishops Cleeve on Saturday.

The Railwaymen came from behind twice in the mid-table clash at the Loop Meadow to pick up their fifth draw in seven matches.

The Mitres took the lead in what was a scrappy match on a tricky pitch when Kirk Layton smashed the ball into the top corner from close range.

Didcot's best chance of the first half came when Cleeve stopper Matt Wiczorek superbly saved a 30-yard strike from Callum McNish.

The second half started better for Diddy and the equaliser did eventually arrive in the 67th minute when George Jeacock, back from suspension, beat Wiczorek when sent through on goal.

The former Oxford United striker looked comfortably offside but he wasn't complaining as he rolled the ball under the goalkeeper for his first goal back in Didcot colours.

But out of nowhere with their first real attack of the half, Cleeve got their noses ahead again when substitute Jacob Nutting converted from close range.

Didcot rescued a point from a last minute corner when Learoyd bundled home at the back post.

Andy Ballard's men, 14th in Division 1 South & West, travel to strugglers AFC Totton on Saturday, as they continue to search for their first win of 2017.

Martyn enjoys his golf day in the sun in Morocco

AN AMATEUR golfer from Bicester missed out on a prestigious national title when he competed in the singles final of the 2016 Morocco Matchplay earlier this month.

Semi-retired Martyn Smith, 62, a 16-handicapper who plays at Heythrop Park in Enstone, finished fourth at the Robert Trent Jones-designed PalmGolf Marrakech Palmeraie.

But he still enjoyed the experience in Morocco, where he received complimentary return flights from Gatwick, five nights' luxury bed-and-breakfast accommodation in the five-star Palmeraie Palace, four rounds of championship golf, a welcome cocktail reception and a gala dinner and prize presentation.

He said: "The smile on my face says it all. I've never won anything in a singles competition of any description at any time.

"This feels like I've won a Major. It's that good, it really is.

"I would have loved to have won, but I feel like a winner just being here."

Each finalist played up to four qualifying rounds merely to reach the regional final, with the knockout rounds taking place between June and September, and the regional finals in October. The 32 finalists battled it out between February 5 and 10.

Can United dare to dream?

By George Welch

A STUNNING first goal for Oxford United for Conor McAleny helped the U's roar back from their FA Cup disappointment to close in on the League One play-offs.

The Everton loanee, who was making his first start for the club, scored the only goal of the game in a 1-0 win at Charlton Athletic on Tuesday.

The 24-year-old forward scored against his former employers on 11 minutes with a fantastic 25-yard effort that flew into the back of the net via the far post.

United's fifth league away win on the bounce lifted the play-off dark horses to within six points of sixth place with two games in hand.

Following McAleny's wonder strike, Charlton dropped deeper as the U's dominated and right back Phil Edwards should have doubled United's lead when he ghosted in unmarked from a Marvin Johnson free kick, only to send the ball over the bar.

But Michael Appleton's side, who weren't at their energetic best, also had to display their defensive resolve.

There was an early let off for the U's when Charlton, despite looking nervy, rattled the bar with a 20-yard Nathan Byrne effort in the fourth minute.

Josh Magennis, Jorge Teixeira and rapid Arsenal loanee Stephy Mavididi all threatened Simon Eastwood's goal before the break.

The Addicks piled on the pressure for 20 minutes after the break and one 30-second spell just before the hour saw Ryan Ledson block twice and Charlton substitute Joe Aribo smack a shot against the post with Eastwood, for once, beaten. Eastwood, who collected his 17th clean sheet of the season, was smartly off his line to punch the ball from the forehead of Magennis as the home side pressed, but U's weathered the storm and on 70 minutes had an extra man to help.

Charlton captain Chris Solly received his marching orders with 20 minutes remaining when he flew into a poorly timed challenge on his Oxford counterpart John Lundstram to pick up a straight red.

United were then able to carve out more chances of their own, with Kane Hemmings, Rob Hall and Edwards (twice) going close to securing maximum points.

The U's defence had to be on their guard against the counter attack but the points were in the bank once the impressive Ledson heroically cleared a header off the line in the final seconds.

Difficult for English managers to work in the Premier League

OXFORD United head coach Michael Appleton has said it is becoming more difficult for British managers to work in the Premier League due to the 'myth' that foreign coaches are superior.

In an interview with the BBC prior to last weekend's FA Cup fifth round matches, Appleton said it is becoming more difficult for British coaches to land Premier League jobs due to the perception that foreign coaches are better than home-grown ones.

Salford-born Appleton was speaking to BBC pundit and former Manchester City player Trevor Sinclair before United's narrow 3-2 FA Cup defeat at Middlesbrough, in which his side, then 39-places below the Premier League outfit, were four minutes from causing an upset against Boro, managed by Spaniard Aitor Karanka.

Appleton said: "I think it is becoming more difficult [for young British coaches to manage in the Premier League] with the influx of foreign coaches and managers because a lot of ownerships are foreign ownership and there's this myth that foreign coaches are better than British coaches."

"I think if they did their due diligence properly they would probably find that's not quite the case."

"But the reality is, as young English managers, there will be opportunities to possibly take a club into the Premier League and then it's down to yourself to stay in there."

"But even that's becoming difficult now because a lot of the coaches in the Championship [are foreign]."

"There's no doubt that myself and a lot of people that are more experienced than me and better coaches and managers at this moment in time than myself will still be chasing that and rightly so."

Sixteen of the 24 Championship managers – or two-thirds – are British.

But in the Premier League, just seven of the 20 managers are British (35 per cent).

And of that seven, only two are in the top half, with Welshman and West Brom manager Tony Pulis the highest ranking Brit in eighth place.

José Mourinho, who had Karanka as his number two for three years between 2010 and 2013 at Real Madrid, said last week that some foreign coaches fail to understand English football's culture and this can lead to FA Cup upsets.

Jürgen Klopp's heavily-rotated Liverpool lost at home to Wolves in the fourth round, although the biggest cup upset so far this year has been Lincoln City's win at Burnley, who are managed by Kettering-born Sean Dyche.

Appleton's pride at team performance in FA Cup

PROUD Oxford United boss Michael Appleton has praised his side following Saturday's late 3-2 FA Cup heartbreak at Middlesbrough.

The Premier League side looked too strong for League One United when Grant Leadbitter and Rudy Gestede fired Aitor Karanka's side into a 2-0 lead within 34 minutes.

But Oxford, who will feel unfortunate to have a Chris Maguire goal disallowed when 1-0 down, clawed their way back into the match in an impressive second half performance.

A delightful Maguire free kick and a Toni Martinez strike a minute apart just after the hour mark had United believing they could sneak into the quarter-final for the first time since 1964.

But with time running out, Middlesbrough freshened up their front line by bringing on Christian Stuani and Alvaro Negredo and the pair linked up to break the hearts of the 3,500-strong away fans.

With four minutes remaining, Uruguayan Stuani tapped in at the back post after Negredo cleverly flicked on a Fabio cross to send Boro into the quarter-finals, where they will host either Huddersfield or Manchester City next month.

But Appleton, who has beaten eight higher division teams during his Oxford tenure, believes his side can hold their heads high following defeat in the north east against a team 39-places superior in the football league pyramid.

Speaking straight after the match, Appleton said: "I am very proud. Tomorrow [Sunday] I will feel more proud of them. At the minute I'm just a little frustrated - we came here to win the game.

"For us to come back like we did and as strongly as we did in the second half and almost spend the majority of the second half in their half of the field and be positive and keep pressing...I'm obviously delighted with the way they approached the second half.

"It looked as if it was going to be one of those fantastic comebacks, but it wasn't to be and we move on very quickly. We've had a good run."

Appleton can be given credit for giving it a go against Middlesbrough, who are fighting to stay in the Premier League after winning the Championship play-offs last year.

United set up with two out-and-out strikers for the first time in months, in an attempt to get down the sides of Boro's centre halves.

After admitting his side were "star-struck" in the opening exchanges, Appleton said he thought there would only be one winner once Oxford had doggedly fought back.

An historic quarter-final wasn't to be for the U's, but Appleton has every reason to be encouraged as the 2016/17 campaign heads into its final three months.

He said: "If they put a string of performances like that together in the coming weeks then we will still be competing on two fronts [as they chase the League One play-offs and the Checkatrade Trophy]."

He also praised the vocal U's fans, saying: "They're incredible supporters. I'm sure they've had a good day today and will be proud of how the players have performed."

"We're going to need them from now until the end of the season because we've got a lot of big games coming up."

It's back to league action for United this Saturday, as they make the trip to Chesterfield.

Ex-U's boss's tribute to shining diamond defender McCarthy

FORMER Oxford United defender Paul McCarthy has died at the age of 45.

It has been reported that the former Ireland under-21 passed away suddenly on Monday after a suspected heart attack, just five years after retiring.

McCarthy made nearly 600 appearances for five clubs in a long 23-year career.

He began his career at Brighton & Hove Albion, where he played more than 200 games, before signing for Wycombe Wanderers in 1996 for £100,000.

The Cork-born defender would go on to play 259 times for the Chairboys and scored an FA Cup quarter-final goal to help the Buckinghamshire side reach the 2001 FA Cup semi-final.

McCarthy initially joined the U's on a loan deal from Adams Park in 2003.

After making six appearances on his temporary deal, the centre back signed a permanent contract that summer and went on to play 35 games for United before being released at the end of the season.

He would then go on to play for Hornchurch and Ebbsfleet, where he won the FA Trophy, before retiring in 2012 at the age of 40.

Oxford United said everyone at the club was "saddened" by McCarthy's death.

He joined United in 2003 and was a consistent performer at the heart of a solid defence alongside the likes of Andy Crosby and Matt Bound.

Ian Atkins, U's boss from 2001 to 2004, brought McCarthy to the Kassam Stadium and described his former defender as "a diamond".

Atkins told the club's website: "He was a diamond. To be fair I had about 15 diamonds there at Oxford, great lads who were a pleasure to work with and all stuck closely together, but he was one of the ones that shone the brightest.

"He was a natural leader and had a great football brain.

"Sometimes I'd just look his way on the pitch and he would know what I was thinking and get the message across to the other players for me.

"Even after he left the club we stayed in touch and I am shocked and really sad to hear the news.

"I had so much time for him - we all did - and my thoughts and prayers are all with his family at this sad time."

After leaving the U's, McCarthy played for another eight years at Ebbsfleet United before finally hanging up his boots at the age of 40.

United said: "The thoughts of everyone at the club are with Paul's family and friends."

United's Portugal summer training camp

OXFORD United will enjoy a week-long training camp in Portugal this summer as part of the club's preparations for the 2017/18 campaign.

Having spent time in Austria (2015) and Spain (2016) for the last two pre-seasons, head coach Michael Appleton will this summer take his players to the Algarve between July 10 and 16.

The squad will stay near the Vilamoura resort and will play two friendly games, which the club said will be announced in 'due course'.

Chairman Darryl Eales said: "The trips to Austria and Spain have been unforgettable experiences and have really helped form an unbreakable bond between the players, staff and fans.

"The players know they will have a lot of hard work to get through but I know they will look forward to visiting Portugal just as much as the fans.

"We wanted to announce the dates and location as early as possible to allow supporters to book their time off and make plans.

"We are slightly earlier in doing so than most teams which is why we aren't able to announce who we will be playing quite yet, but it will be another hugely enjoyable week and we would love as many fans as possible to join us."
